

So the knee moves with the size of the request predicted break, free cores = request (pair needs one more) measured knee